Men's Summer Shirts and Underwear.

More news of two marvelous values which are unique with this Store, which already have outfitted thousands of Brooklynites for cool, comfortable and well dressed enjoyment of the heated months. News which in one case we did not hope to be able to repeat—to-morrow's offering may easily be the last. But to-morrow—bargains for more thousands and the satisfaction that always goes with purchases from this Store.

50c. Balbriggan Underwear at 29c.

Three hundred and forty-nine dozen more of the splendid balbriggan Shirts and Drawers that have created such a stir on previous occasions. Made of fine Egyptian yarn with fine and particular finishing, even to double seams in the drawers; a bit of a mill stain here and there cuts the price from 50c. to.....29c. a garment

White Madras Shirts at 94c.

No matter what you pay you will get no better made or more serviceable Shirts than these. Made of a fine white madras cloth with clusters of white corded stripes. Some have pleated bosoms, some attached cuffs, some two pairs of detached cuffs. And white is more than ever a favorite this season—only white and black equals it in favor. There is no equal of these Shirts in value at.....94c. a shirt.

ALL WANTED THE SARVENT CLOCK

Which was Battered in the Ramapo Mountains to Keep It From the British.

When Garret Sarvent died at Nyack last April he left a "grandfather's clock," which has been a bone of contention among his heirs, and about $50,000, according to counsel, over which all has been played. The clock is of oak, six feet high and wears a face in the fashion of a century or more ago. The will left the clock and his residence to his son, Charles Sarvent, and divided the rest of the estate among his other children. The executor of the will is Abraham A. Demarest, a lawyer of Nyack. A contest was imminent because of alleged undue influence by which the son Charles obtained the clock.

The history of the clock in the family is that it was estimated of much value in Revolutionary times when it was still ticking and was owned by the grandfather of the testator. When the British were making a forced march from West Point through Nyack, so the family chronicles go, Grandpa Sarvent, in fear that some of the soldiers might want to take a timepiece along, took time for the forelock before the British got to Nyack and buried the clock back of Nyack in the Ramapo Mountains. It is said that it was buried about forty years and was discovered through a memorandum left by the Sarvent who buried it. It is said to be in a good state of preservation.

Several lawyers recently met at the office of Moses H. Grossman, attorney for Charles Sarvent, and agreed not to contest the will because of the clock.

Drank Solution of Arsenic, Thinking It Was Wine, and Died.

MENKSA, N. Y., June 1.—Stephen Green, employed in the street department, took refuge in the barn of Clark Hogg on Centre street during a storm this morning. Hogg owns a vineyard and when Green saw a barrel with a faucet attached he drew a cup of the contents and drank it, thinking it wine. A few minutes later he died in horrible agony. The barrel contained a compound of arsenic used for spraying trees and vines.

MRS. SHEDDEN DIED ON THE ST. LOUIS.

Her Brother, Dr. A. E. M. Purdy, was at the Pier to Meet Her.

A Mrs. J. W. Shedden, daughter of the late Dr. A. S. Purdy and sister of Dr. A. E. M. Purdy of 304 Madison avenue, died on Thursday at the American liner St. Louis, which arrived yesterday from Southampton and Cherbourg. Her body was brought to this port and taken to the home of her brother, who was on the pier to meet her. She had been abroad two years and had been an invalid. She was said to be the family matriarch and a daughter of 13, has been receiving in a dry goods store.

FARM HANDS IN GREAT DEMAND.

Strong Inducements Offered to Married Couples to Go South.

Married couples are much in demand just now by scores of well-to-do farmers in Kentucky and Tennessee, who are trying to secure adequate help to bring to market the immense crop of this season. Several of these farmers have written to the Out-Door Farm Department, saying that they will send transportation to all in distressing married folks who wish to try farming. Dwellings and fuel will be furnished free, as it is the intention of the farmers to start colonies of farm workers. In addition to this, they will receive wages averaging $1 a day the year round. The Southern states that only the able-bodied and willing need apply.

SEABRIGHT'S NEW BRIDGE.

Opened Last Night With a Parade, Fireworks, Speeches and a Dance.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., June 1.—At Seabright to-night the new steel drawbridge, costing $85,000, was opened. All the public buildings and many of the cottages were decorated. There was a short parade, Otto Bentell acting as marshal. A display of fireworks followed. A cannon announced the opening of the bridge. A silk flag, the gift of Edward Kepp, was presented to the Board of Freeholders by former Mayor P. H. Packer. Several addresses were made. A band furnished music for dancing, which concluded the celebration.

Crushed to Death in a Grain Elevator.

BEFFALO, June 1.—James W. Lynch, a scowper, met with a horrible death shortly before noon to-day at the Niagara elevator. He was walking through the structure and accidentally stepped on a grain conveyor, which carried him to the buckets used in elevating grain. He was carried up by the buckets 145 feet and thrown into the scale hopper, from which he was rescued before the ambulance arrived. His body was crushed and mangled beyond recognition.

Ferryboat Engineer's Body Found.

The body of Francis H. Grose, 39 years old, of Nostrand avenue and Degraw street, Brooklyn, was found in the North River off West Thirtieth street early yesterday morning by the harbor police. Grose was engineer of the tugboat "Croton" and was in a fog with the Central Railroad ferryboat Elizabeth on April 10 at the foot of Liberty street. The dead engineer was identified at the morgue by a watch given him by his parents on May 10, 1883.
